SILVERWOODS LAUNCHES MONTHLY VALUATION EVENINGS

The first of Silverwoods' free monthly valuation evenings for antiques and fine art will take place on Tuesday 10th February from 4.00 p.m – 6.30 p.m by appointment only. If you think that there may be cash in your attic, or you have an item that you have always wondered might be valuable, Silverwoods' team of experts will be on hand at the Auction Rooms in Lincoln Way to value antiques for the company's prestigious monthly sale which takes place on Thursday 26th February. To arrange an appointment, call Silverwoods on: 01200 423322.

Said Auctioneer Wilf Mould: "We recognise that it's not always possible for people to bring their items for valuation during working hours, so felt that a special 'out of hours' service for higher value antiques and collectables aimed at our monthly sale would prove popular. If people have items for our weekly Wednesday sale, they can still bring them in any Monday morning without an appointment."

Valuation Evening/2

Good quality antiques are reported to be holding their value well at the moment. A number of vendors have recently had items sold for far in excess of their valuations. In last week's monthly sale, an ivory ear trumpet estimated at £40 - £50 raised £290 at auction while a Sylvester Stannard Watercolour (est. £300 - £350) fetched £480.
